The presentation is highly recommended for hospitals, ambulance authorities, emergency services and police, and for institutional use; for training of essential staff in civil defence activities. The way the whole subject is covered eliminates the need for highly skilled teaching staff and enables a mobile lecture tour to be easily organised to educate large numbers.

At one point, Juliette willingly lets a count shll on her chest as he pisses into her mouth. But at a later party, one of Juliette's pals can't quite choke down a royal turd, so she's pinched, probed, pounded and then hung from a chandelier over a bunch of burning candles. This TART FLAMBE amuses the courtiers, but they're even more turned on when the girl begs for death. Naturally, they let her sip some poisoned wine. As the girl flops about in death throes, the merry-makers continue their fomicating festivities

Is Size Really That Important? Let's face it. We all know that sensitivity, tenderness and sophisticated technique are what most women claim they look for in a lover! And these women are well right every time. But, let's face it, it is a very important factor in the bedroom. If you asked every girl you ever loved, and she said she'd be honest, she'd tell you that she'd like a man who could make her feel like a queen. I think we all know what she'd say. And the fact is, quality is important in his own time. But can a man make a man a man?

D.I.Y. POLITICS

Yet there was this hate. Some of the Kommune Eins people went to the East, to get guerilla training. I have never seen one gun in the Amsterdam underground. We hate guns, I think.

Their cars grew bigger. Huge old black Daimlers and Mercedes gave them that Chicago touch. Then came the needles. And the sex rackets: live fucking for the very rich, porno snapshots for the poor. Our German friends were reaching for their share of the Wirtschafts pie in quite a bourgeois way. At least that's what we thought, riding our shaky bicycles in the rain.

Finally we lost contact. The occasion was prophetic for what was bound to happen in Germany in the Seventies. Five people came down from Hamburg in a huge Daimler-Benz. Astrid was among them and she said now was the time for the real thing.

"No more fucking around. We're here to try out a new Konzept: Psycho Terror."

That night we took them to a party at the house of a certain lady journalist. A couple of writers and newspaper, drinking and talking in the living room or eating paté in the kitchen. Then suddenly us, who hardly knew the hostess, with five glumly companions.

They walked around the apartment, as though inspecting the hostess' possessions. At first no one paid much attention and they slipped into the bedroom. When I went looking for them I found them lying on the big bed, with their boots on the sheets. I don't like boots on sheets but didn't want to say that to them. Maybe in Germany they are used to that. So I left the room and re-joined the party.

"Don't your friends want a drink?" the lady journalist asked.

"I don't know, they're in your bedroom."

"In her bedroom?" The famous wit, Heere Heeresma—whose father was executed by the Germans—jumped up.

"I don't like their looks!" he shouted.

But the hostess eased him down and went to see for herself. I followed her.

By now they had opened a cupboard and were taking out her lingerie. I could hear the lady swallow a lump, but she managed to stay cool.

"Do you want a drink?" she asked.

"If you like it."

"Would you mind leaving the bedroom alone?"

"Certainly not!"

So they tore up some delicate knickers and bra's and marched out. The hostess gasped. Then a pile of plates was dropped deliberately. The famous wit jumped up and started shouting:

"Out, out, you bastards!"

Others joined in and a fight started. There was a lot of crashing and breaking of glass and things, before we found ourselves on the street.

by hans plomp

"Why this, friends?"

"This is Psycho Terror", Astrid said with a smile. "This definitely proves that so called decent people can turn into monsters when only a few of their things get damaged. They might have killed us if we'd gone on, do you realise that? This means they consider their lousy possessions more important than a person's life!"

"You've got a point there...but didn't you know that?"

"It's horrible, don't you understand?" She was genuinely upset.

"Come on, Astrid, look at children. They beat each other up over a toy. Look at a dog. The nicest pet changes into a demon, if you try to snatch away its bone. I think it's natural."

"It's not natural and WE are no dogs! We're going to show the world what low-down materialistic beasts Germans have become. We'll attack them where it hurts most, in their property. We will destroy their things—set fire to their shops, blow up their banks—but we won't touch them, we won't take their miserable lives. Nur Sachbeschädigung: snatching the bone from the real dogs."

And so it was...for a while. As to who caused the first human casualties, the bone snatchers or the dogs, that is still open to question.

Charles Manson a victim etc

I AM writing in you in sheer ecstasy over your free Gees article. When the hell does Robin Gibb think he is saying that Charles Manson ought to have been hung and beaten bloody and that he is "an embodiment of unspeakable evil." How dare he speak like that about someone he doesn't even know. Who does he think he is in speak like that about Charlie? I was sickened when I read this and I hope Charlie never gets in read about it.

Charles Manson spent most of his life in prison, mainly through no fault of his own. He had no formal education, he had no father and his mother made no effort to bring him up — he brought himself up and in so doing he suffered greatly from this world and what his did was caused by gross tensions forced upon him by rich lazy people like Robin who wouldn't give people like Charlie a chance. Charles Manson was an intelligent perceptive, self taught independent individual who had become twisted and warped by the actions of the society in which he lived. People like Robin who are just thoughtless heartless bourgeois and "I'm Alright Jack" types, should be in jail not Charlie. So don't go on about what should happen to Charlie, when your morals are far less than his.

Miss Caroline Manson, London.

Yup Charlie was a misunderstood guy who enjoyed murdering people. What's wrong with that?

and conquer. And what better target along with blacks and Chicanos and poor whites than the hippies? The logical extension of their life style would upset the economy.

Folks who don't eat much meat, who make their own clothes, who share automobiles and washing machines and piano graphs, who take care of each other and don't pay chase insurance policies..... why, even the man Kahn once admitted to me that it was the hippies who were delaying the guaranteed annual wage. And so it came to pass that Manson was chosen.

It is broke beyond coincidence that the real villain of the Manson family, Tex Watson, supposedly met Charlie when he, Tex, picked up Beach Boy Dennis Wilson hitchhiking, took him to his beach house and there was Swungall waiting.

It was Tex who did the shooting and most of the stabbing at the Tate house. Yet he was held in a Texas jail. His Los Angeles lawyers were wanted out of town by federal cops. and there he was held till after Charlie was found guilty.

In the Manson trial, since Charlie had not been at the scene of the crime, it was necessary for prosecutor Vincent Bugliosi to convince the jury that Tex and the girls were all rascals under Charlie's control. Whereas, in Tex Watson's trial, since he pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity, this same Bugliosi insisted that Tex was not a zombie, he knew precisely what he was doing, he was also found guilty, but it wasn't quite the same thing, image wise.

In a letter to me, Charlie asserts that although he knew what was going to happen, it was Tex who told the girls what to do. When Jerry Rubin visited Manson in prison before the trial, he admitted his guilt this way:

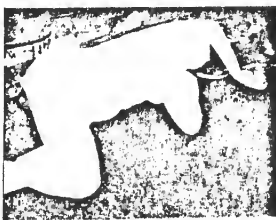

"As far as any connection with the Tate murders and myself, and the family that I live with, I'll say this: I am connected with killing the Indians and I'm connected with killing the Mayans, the Incas. I'm connected with everything that's been done in the name of Christ in nineteen hundred and seventy years. I feel that I'm connected with all of it, and I feel that it's just as much my fault as it was whoever pulled the triggers, because I'm still in it." It goes on "I'm still in it" I happen once in Vietnam right now. I'm responsible for everything, you know, I'm responsible for everything Man is doing to this earth and its sky and its water and its animals, all of it....."

When Charles Manson got out of jail in the spring of 1967 and ended up in Haight Ashbury, he had been sent to give the kids of death to the flower children.

What happened to Charles Manson is the perfect reflection of a society that preaches law and order but practices the manipulation of justice.

"There are no evil people, there are only victims." Jerry Garcia talking to Charlie Manson.

Paul Kraemer is the editor of the Realist, an intermittently published, occasionally brilliant, magazine (only $4 a year from 595 Broadway, New York 10012). Kraemer also wrote "How a Solid Editor Becomes a Yippee Conspirator in Ten Easy Years" ($7 from same place).

When Ed Sanders was writing his book The Family about the Manson murders he promised to let Kraemer publish in the Realist all the bills that Sanders had been forced to leave out.

Last December Sanders changed his mind. Sanders was being used by the Process Church of the Final Judgment and his attorneys wouldn't let Kraemer see the files.

Not surprisingly Kraemer became obsessed with the missing bits and started his own research. He even hired private detectives to check out facts.

The result? Kraemer suffered what he calls a "paranoid breakout". He also ran out of cash. But he produced an article called "The Parts Left Out of the Manson Book". It'll be printed in the 13th anniversary issue of the Realist. Here, for OZ readers, is a first look at the Parts Left Out of the Manson Book.....

The conclusion I (and others) have reached is incredible as it may seem — is that the slaying of Sharon Tate and her dope-dealing friends was planned and engineered at the highest levels of American government. I've tracked down the individual that Manson and Tex Watson met with. He is in Navy Intelligence, which is Division Five of the FBI, which is essentially the CIA. He was also known as a hippie artist.

I even considered the possibility that there were two different characters, but I interviewed some people he stayed with in his attic role, and once during an argument he shouted at a young woman, "You're nothing but a dirty Jew!" That certainly does not evolve out of the hippie ethic. You might expect to be chastised for being basically middle class, perhaps, and indeed there is a key in understanding this case.

In order for the publicly frailty — without intelligence, no power and organized crime, to maintain control, they must debilitate

Couple Who Took Poison Apparently Feared Jail

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 8 (AP) — A young couple who killed themselves in a courtroom here yesterday were apparently afraid of going to jail, according to their attorney.

As horrified spectators and relatives looked on in Montgomery County Circuit Court, William Melton, 27 years old, and his wife, Tracey Lee Melton, 21, swallowed lethal doses of potassium cyanide and went into violent convulsions. Efforts to save them at Shady Grove Adventist Hospital failed.

The Meltons, both carrying Bibles, were in court for sentencing on drug-possession convictions.

"All along, they always questioned, were always skeptical about what might happen to them," said their attorney, Maurice Beggiani, adding that he had tried to assure them that they would not be incarcerated. "Then this past week they were very acquiescent, maybe almost resigned to carry out this tragic act."

At the sentencing yesterday Judge Stanley B. Frosh was saying that Mr. Melton needed a more structured environment, such as a pre-release camp. It was then that Mr. Melton reached into his pocket for the poison, putting it into his mouth and washing it down with a glass of water, witnesses said. His wife, after fondly patting her husband, swallowed the white powder before a deputy could stop her.

"Maybe they misunderstood because they were so scared about being put in a cell," Mr. Beggiani said.

"We just couldn't undo what years of drug abuse did to destroy their own mental and physical well-being," he continued. "There was just this deep psychological scar. There was too much to undo, and too little time."

Started in Junior High School

According to friends, Mr. Melton began using drugs such as mescaline, marijuana and LSD, lysergic acid diethylamide, while in junior high school. Later he worked at odd jobs in the Washington area, then got a job last year as a keypunch operator at a branch of the former Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It was there that he met his wife.

Rockville is about 10 miles from Washington.

Mrs. Melton was graduated in 1977 from Einstein High School in Kensington, Md. According to a close family friend, she had been an alcoholic since she was 13, and at 16 was regularly using hashish and marijuana. She moved in with Mr. Melton not long after meeting him.

Had Been 'Born Again'

The police said that in late March they received a report of screams coming from a van on Viers Mill Road in Wheaton. The authorities said they found marijuana, cocaine and a six-foot spear in Mr. Melton's van and that the couple told the officers that they had been conducting a religious sex ritual.

According to the Montgomery County police, the couple had the words "burned in hell" and "Satan be banished" painted on their foreheads and Mr. Melton had a red rope around his neck.

They were married in June and, according to witnesses at their trial in August, became devout Christians. Several ministers testified on the couple's behalf, saying they had been "born again."

Mr. Melton was convicted of possessing marijuana and cocaine, and his wife was convicted of possessing marijuana, cocaine and LSD.

Outside the farmhouse all were made to undress behind a screen of bundles. On the door was a notice, 'Desinfektionsraum' (Disinfecting Chamber), and the prisoners were given the impression that they were being taken into the building to be deloused.

When they were undressed they went into the room, according to the size of the convoy, about 250 at a time. The doors were locked and one or two tins of 'Cyclon B' were thrown in through specially constructed apertures in the walls. 'Cyclon B' gas was generally used for this purpose and contained a crude compound of prussic acid. The time it took to kill the victims varied according to the state of the weather but was seldom longer than ten minutes.

In the autumn of 1942, Bahr, the medical orderly, on the instructions of Tizchinski's predecessor, herded 197 Russian prisoners of war into a cell, assisted by Diekmann, and pumped 'Cyclon B' gas into it. All the Russians died, and were then dragged out, placed in trucks and taken away. The inmates were all pardoned to witness this macabre scene and made to sing a song of which the first line was:

Zyklon Zyklon Zyklon B Zombie
Zyklon Zyklon Zyklon B Zombie

I AM 20 and have been going out with my boyfriend for nearly four years. The problem is that he keeps asking me to hold his penis in my mouth and swallow his sperm. Is it harmful to swallow it, or should I just spit it out afterwards? He says it isn't harmful as he's read in books of people doing this. What does it taste like?

PURPLE NOISE

There is far more power in sound than most people realise and I think you are on the threshold of something truly earth-shaking in your production of erotic discs.

I don't want to get too technical but must use a bit of science to put my message across. I think most people know that some musical notes can shatter wine-glasses, and everyone knows about the power of a sonic boom.

On a less destructive plane there is "white noise". Listening to this, which is a mixture of all frequencies in equal proportions, is extremely relaxing and can actually put a person to sleep — even into a trance. You get white noise from a waterfall, waves breaking on a shingle beach, or an FM tuner in an off-station position.

There are erotic noises, too. Motor-bikes, drums, racing-cars, etc. make sexy sounds, but the most effective sound of all is "purple noise".

I do not know the constitution of this, frequencywise, but it's not very different from white noise, except that it has a rhythmic beat instead of being continuous. It also has to be heard in stereo and using earphones to be fully effective. I have a tape cassette of this purple noise (produced in Japan) and when I sit naked with my stereo headphones on and connected up to the cassette player at high volume, I get a terrific erection inside two minutes.

I don't have to touch my cock for this to happen. When I continue with the tape, powerful and totally gratifying ejaculation occurs within 20 minutes — again without any handling of my prick.

Purple noise is also effective on women. My wife is brought to powerful orgasm within 30 minutes.

DEATH BANNED SHOCK: Lyricists beware: following the suicide of a punter 'heavily influenced by the pop music world', it may be necessary to pen only happy lyrics about the joys of life. A coroner condemned the 'M.A.S.H.' theme song for its fine 'suicide is painless' and the P. Floyders for their 'Wall' story about a man cutting himself off from life. "People who write songs like this should have more responsibility towards the people at whom they are aiming their material," he said. Repression rules OK.

"God's word plainly reveals that homosexuality is wrong and that those who become involved in that way of life will not enjoy God's blessing. In view of this you can see why Christian overseers would express concern about the spreading popularity of disco."

Coroner lashes a pop song of suicide

WORDS of death in pop songs were slammed by a coroner yesterday.

He hit out after hearing a tape left by a student who died 1980, in his death from the top of a multi-story car park. The tape suggested 20-year-old Mahmud Cook was heavily influenced by pop music.

(In it he quoted the phrase "Suicide is painless" from the theme song of the film M.A.S.H.)

And there was a reference to a Pink Floyd show which told the story of a man who cut himself off from the world by building a wall round himself.

Coroner Mr Howard McEann said at the Preston inquest: "People who write and publish songs like this should have more responsibility in that they are aiming their material at."

Malcolm, a third-year student at Edinburgh University, made his death plunge in Preston as horrified shoppers looked on.

His parents found the tape when they returned home to Highfield Crescent, Lithergow, West Lothian, from build.
